Clay Fire Announces 2015 Child Passenger Safety Week and Reminds Everyone that One Size Does Not Fit All

Child Passenger Safety Week which takes place September 13-19 raises awareness regarding safe transporting of children in motor vehicles.

In 2014, 246 children in Indiana under the age of 13 were injured, and 4 children died as a result of being unrestrained in an automobile crash.

National statistics show that over 70 percent of all childrens car seats are not used correctly.

Children safety seats are selected based on the age, height and weight of the child.

Many times the labeling on the packaging can be confusing if you are not aware of the type of seat your child should be using.

The inspection and installation of child seats are conducted at Clay Fire Territory fire stations by calling for an appointment.

Remember to use seat belts and car seats on every ride every time.
